VICTIM HAS LARGE FUNERAL

Several Lodges Turning Out in Force.
Signed Statement Given by Bartender John Pryor.

The funeral of the late Charles Luther was held from the home of his parents Sunday afternoon, and was one of the largest funerals ever held in the city of Newark. The Fraternal Order of Eagles had over 200 members in the procession, one of the largest turnouts ever made by a fraternal organization in the city. The Foresters, Iron Molders and Ben Hurs were also represented and they followed the remains of their departed brother to his last resting place in Cedar Hill cemetery.

Each lodge had three pall bearers to represent them, and to the slow music of a funeral dirge the procession wended its way to the family lot in Cedar Hill cemetery. Hundreds of friends of the deceased went to the home to show their sympathy for the bereaved family and to look for the last time on their fellow lodgeman.

The floral tributes were beautiful and of great number. The casket was almost completely covered with flowers and foliage which also filled the room. The Rev. A. C. Roof of the Evangelical Lutheran church, conducted the funeral services and his remarks were very touching when he dwelt on the life and the sad ending of Charles Luther.

John Pryor, the bartender in the Elko saloon where the trouble took place, has prepared a statement of how the trouble started, according to the way he saw it at the time. His statement, which is prepared for the Advocate, will do away with much of the conflicting testimony, and will help to straighten out the tangle of evidence that now exists. Mr. Pryor was a friend of both the men and his story is undoubtedly given in an impartial manner.

John Pryor's Statement.
Newark, O., Oct. 7, 1907.
Editor Advocate:

Dear Sir—would you kindly publish the following statement of the facts in the Charles Luther and Robert Wilson trouble at the Elko saloon on East Main street on Wednesday night last?

Robert Wilson came into the bar room about 9 o'clock p. m., walked up to the bar and called for a glass of beer, and got into a conversation with some other parties present.

About 10:30 the phone rang and the party calling asked if a certain person was present, and I told him no. He then asked me if I knew who was talking, and I said, no. He stated that he would be over in a little while, and in a short time Charles Luther walked in, and I said "That was you who phoned me a short while ago," and he said "Yes."

Oren Crown, who was present, then asked Luther to have a drink, and he said, "No you don't. I'll pay for this. Give me a beer." He drank, and then said to Crown, "Let's take a walk."

He and Crown then went out, returning about 10:40 p. m. Charles Luther walked to the rear end of the bar and back again to the front end. Then he and Oren Crown drank a glass of beer together. He then walked around the front end of the bar and back to the phonograph and picked up a record to play a tune, and while there he understood or seemed to understand that Ed Dayton had made some remark. He laid the record down and went around to the front of the bar, and took a hold of Dayton by the coat collar, and they got into an argument. I did not pay much attention to them, as I thought it did not amount to much.

About this time Robert Wilson walked to the back end of the bar room, behind the screens, and while I was busy at the front end of the bar, waiting on customers, and while drawing a couple of glasses of beer, I heard a sound like some one striking another, and something struck the floor.

I set the beer down and leaned over the bar and saw Charles Luther lying there. I walked around the end of the counter and to where Luther lay as quickly as possible, and Pete Moulder said to me, "Bob ought not to have done that."

I took hold of Luther under the arms and picked him up, telling Pete to bring me a chair, on which I placed him and leaned him against the screen.

This was at 11:45. I did not see any one hit Luther, or did not see

Wilson while I was in the act of picking him up, and at 11:55 p. m. I said, "I will take Luther outside and lay him on the bench under the shed at the back end of the saloon, where he can get some fresh air."

I then picked him up and Dayton and some others followed me outside to the shed, where I laid him on the bench, and went back into the saloon, where I found a couple of people waiting for me. I told them it was nearly 12 o'clock and I would have to close up, and they went out of the back door which I locked. I then went to the front door which I locked also. I then went to work to clean up and put the room in order, which took me until nearly 1 o'clock. I then went out the front door, locked it, and went home. The above is a full and complete statement of the facts as I saw them, and any other statement said to have come from me is wrong.

Yours truly,
JOHN PRYOR.

For the first time since he entered the walls of the city prison on Thursday night, giving himself up to the officials of the city, Robert Wilson stood under the clear blue of the October sky, and inhaled deep breaths of the air before he entered the patrol to be taken to the police court, where he expected to be arraigned. His color was good and his demeanor quiet and contained when he walked into the court room. He looked curiously at the crowd that had gathered.

Smythe & Smythe, his attorneys, were present and talked to him for some time in an undertone. He did not show that he was either glad or disappointed when his hearing, which has already been delayed some time, was again postponed until Friday morning. This was not decided upon until Prosecuting Attorney Fitzgibbon and Mr. Phil Smythe and Mayor McCleery held a conference. All three gentlemen have several cases to look after and as this is a busy time of the year, this preliminary hearing will have to dovetail with the others.

COLOR LINE

MAY BE DRAWN AND NEGRO RE-FUSED ADMISSION TO OX-FORD UNIVERSITY.

Rhodes Scholarship.

London, Oct. 7.—The color line has made its appearance at Oxford and many of the American Rhodes scholars, particularly those from the south, are making protests against the acceptance of A. L. Locke, the negro student, appointed by the Rhodes selection committee of Pennsylvania. Secretary Charles W. Boyd of the Rhodes fund has received many remonstrances, not alone from Rhodes scholars, but from influential Americans, declaring that the admission of a negro on equal terms with white students will create a prejudice against the educational work.

GAVE UP LETTERS FOLLOWED WITH FULL CONFESSION

SENSATIONAL ALLEGATIONS IN PETITION TO REOPEN HARTJE
DIVORCE CASE.

MAKE ASTOUNDING ADMISSIONS

Tom Madine, Coachman, Co-respondent, Gives Documentary Evidence to Wronged Husband.

Pittsburg, Oct. 7.—This city is agog with excitement today over the news of the filing in Philadelphia by counsel for Augustus Hartje with the Superior court of a petition asking that the case be opened up and additional testimony taken. The object of this is to show that Mary Scott Hartje, the beautiful respondent in the famous divorce scandal was guilty of the charges brought against her by her millionaire husband beyond any question of a doubt. Ruling on the petition is expected to be made some time today.

The document sets forth some of the most startling evidence. Photographs and letters obtained from Tom Madine, coachman co-respondent in the case, and which Hartje charges in the petition were written by Mary Scott Hartje, his wife from Paris and London during their trip in 1905. Also letters which Hartje says Ida and Helen Scott sisters of Mrs. Hartje, wrote Howard W. Lappe of Pittsburg from Florenceville, Fla., and Memphis, Tenn., and in which they made astounding admissions relative to the Hartje case.

Madine has made a complete confession, turning over to Hartje documentary evidence to prove the lower court's decision was wrong. He is now married and settled down in Belfast, Ireland. Madine also turned over to Hartje a letter alleged to have been written by his mother to him from Down Patrick, Ireland, in which Mrs. Madine tells of sending Tom letters appended in the petition at his request. These letters, it is claimed, were taken from Madine's pocket in the summer of 1905, when he was visiting his mother. Madine's confession was taken in Toronto, Canada, August 3, 1907. Subsequently Madine sailed for Queens-town, Ireland.

August Hartje when interviewed this morning, regarding the action brought by his attorneys said: "I consider the evidence we have secured to be sufficient to prove beyond the vestige of a doubt the charge of Mrs. Hartje's intimacy with Thomas Madine."

England Will Pay Ransom.

Tangier, Oct. 7.—The release of Caid Sir Harry MacLean, who for some time has been held captive by the bandit Raisuli, at last seems to be within measurable distance. It is stated on the best possible authority that the British government has accepted Raisuli's reduced terms for MacLean's release, the principal items being $150,000 ransom and British protection for Raisuli and his family. Great Britain's advance of the ransom will be guaranteed by Sultan Abd-El-Aziz. Sir Harry MacLean's brother is now at Rabat, bringing the negotiations with the sultan to a close.

"I AM WILLING TO ADMIT YOU ARE MY LEGAL WIFE"

IS STATEMENT A LETTER MAE
WOOD SAYS SENATOR PLATT WROTE.

SAYS IT IS A FORGERY

Other Terms Are Used Which Miss
Wood Believes Will Convince Court She Was Married.

New York, Oct. 7.—"I am willing to admit you are my legal wife."

Upon this and a few score similar statements in letters she says Senator Platt sent to her Mae Wood depends to convince the court that she does not seek a divorce from a man to whom she never was married at all.

The Senator says he never wrote the letters however. The one which admits, over what purports to be his signature, that he acknowledges Mae Wood as his wife, he specifically designates as a forgery.

The same letter adds that "the writer will sign such a statement and waive the right to use the papers signed by you in October, 1903, as I know they were illegally obtained." Another letter advises Mae Wood under date "Friday, November 8" to be in her room (118) till I come and sign you that I am occupying next you."

"He came too," Mae says and they married. This was at the Fifth Avenue Hotel. Another forgery says Platt.

"Dear Canty," says a third letter, "I have been thinking of you and wondering how you are breasting the world alone. I am miserable. I send you a book of franks. I didn't think it wise to furnish a pass. It is too free and open." The letter is signed T. C. P.—Means Thomas C. Platt, says Mae Wood.

"Forgery," answers the Senator.

Speculative Element Attached to Cotton Growing.

The object in the coming together of interests whose aggregate products are valued at three billion dollars annually is primarily economic and to this end this world's cotton congress was devised for conferences of every department of this vast industry. Another object is the organization of a permanent congress which shall meet annually, and attach to it departments for the dissemination of information at all times. The leading men of the International Cotton Spinners' association of Europe, the Association of Cotton Manufacturers of the United States, the American Manufacturers' association, the Farmers' Educational and Co-operative union and the Southern Cotton association are here. ENGULFED

BY HOT METAL AND MEN WERE LITERALLY ROASTED TO DEATH.

Explosion Caused by Molten Stream
Being Emptied Upon Wet Sand
at Steel Plant.

Butler, Pa., Oct. 7.—Four men were killed, 10 fatally burned and a dozen seriously injured by an explosion that followed the upsetting of the metal pot in No. 1 cupola of the Standard Steel company. Nearly all the men were foreigners. The large wheel plant was demolished, causing a loss estimated at $100,000. The dead: Nick Dorna, Nicholas Blotar, John Vereck and unknown man. The condition of the 30 men injured is pitiable. The features of a majority are mutilated beyond recognition. The hot metal was showered over them, causing horrible injuries. Arms, fingers and ears were torn off, while a number of the men had their eyes burned out. Several men are in the hospital with their legs burned to a crisp.

The physicians attending the injured said that at least ten of the men would die.

The explosion was caused by the upsetting of a metal pot in the cupola which contained 5,000 pounds of molten metal ready for casting. A span in the pot broke, allowing the liquid iron to spill over the wet sand. An explosion followed so quickly that none of the workmen in the building had a chance to escape. Streams of the burning metal poured out on the workmen, some of whom were engulfed and literally cooked. Twenty men near the cupola had every shred of clothing blown off by the force of the explosion. Many were buried under the wreckage and were not rescued for an hour after the catastrophe.

PUNISHMENT FOR NEGRO LYNCHERS

Cumberland, Oct. 7.—Judge Boyd of the Supreme court today instructed the grand jury that every person who took part in the killing of William Burns, the negro player of Baltimore, was guilty of murder in the first degree, and must be indicted.

At Winamac, Ind., Sheriff Charles Olesby was shot and killed by tramps. In the exchange of shots one of the tramps was fatally injured.

GOVERNMENT WILL PATROL BORDER BETWEEN CANADA

TO PREVENT THE IMMIGRATION OF JAPANESE INTO UNITED STATES.

SECRETARY STRAUS' PLAN

Asiatics Move Across Mexican and Canadian Borders Practically Without Hindrance.

Washington, Oct. 7.—The federal government has determined to adopt some extraordinary measures to prevent the introduction into the United States not only of Japanese, but of other Asiatic coolie passengers. The trip of the secretary of the department of commerce and labor along the Canadian border and the Pacific coast has been followed by an increasing of the force of immigration inspectors along the Canadian border, with a view of controlling, if possible, the flood of Asiatic immigration into America. The official figures of the immigration of Japanese into America are not available, because Secretary Straus declines at this time to make them public, but it is known that more than double the number of Japanese have come into the United States thus far in the year 1907 than came here during the same period last year. Naturally, the figures of the government do not include the hundreds of Japanese who have come into the country surreptitiously. They have come across the Canadian and Mexican borders practically without hindrance, despite the regulations adopted by the government to prevent the introduction of Japanese laborers.

For many months the government has had immigration inspectors in America and Canada making inspections respecting the coming to America of Asiatic laborers, especially Japanese. In practically every instance the inspectors have reported that the Japanese who reach Mexico or Canada are bound for the United States. Inquiries in the Hawaiian Islands have revealed organizations whose business it is to procure Japanese laborers to work in the United States. They not only provide the means but pave the way by which Japanese may easily obtain entrance into this country through Canada and Mexico. It is this sort of proposition the government proposes to combat. In the appointment of what practically constitutes a patrol guard of the northern and southern borders of the country Secretary Straus hopes to reduce the number of Asiatics, Japanese, Chinese and Hindus, who daily are coming across the borders in great and increasing numbers.

ABBE STUDYING RACE CONDITIONS

New York, Oct. 7.—Abbe Felix Kline, one of the prominent members of the clerical element in France, who is making a study of American economic conditions, has returned from an extensive tour of the west. Speaking of his observations Abbe Kline said: "I was much impressed while on the Pacific coast with the anti-Japanese feeling existing at Vancouver and throughout British Columbia, which was far more intense than the feeling on the American side of the border. At San Francisco the anti-Japanese element is comparatively small and one hears little of active agitation against the Japanese. On the other hand at Vancouver there was evidence of intense hostility. It was not a question of labor, but of race."

MODERN METHODS

How They Have Improved a Stand and Remedy.

In the 17th Century a wave of excitement swept over England and France when the medical profession discovered such wonderful curative elements in the cod's liver.

In the 18th Century cod liver oil was imported and used extensively by physicians in this country, but it was found to be adulterated to a great extent, and the useless heavy oil which enveloped the medicinal elements, a great hindrance to its medicinal value.

In 1855 a famous physician from the Hague went to Norway and after two years of experiment and research produced a light brown oil from the cod's livers which was said to be more valuable than the pale yellow oil, but the taste and odor was so repulsive that it frequently caused such nausea that it made it unpopular.

The most valuable discovery, however, was later made by two eminent French chemists, who after years of research discovered an extractive and concentrating process, by which all of the medicinal, healing and body building elements of the cod's liver are separated from the useless and nauseating oil. These recovered medicinal elements combined with peptonate-of-iron make Vinol the most scientific and valuable cod liver preparation which the world has ever known.

Vinol is so rich in the elements of life that it imparts vigor to all debilitated and feeble conditions and is unexcelled as a remedy for all pulmonary troubles.

Try Vinol on our guarantee to return your money if it fails to give satisfaction. Frank D. Hall, druggist, Newark, Ohio.

NEW SHORT STORIES

A Titled Card Expert.

Sir William Van Horne, who was knighted for building the Canadian Pacific railway and who is now criss-crossing Cuba with railroads, is one of the best poker players in America. Indeed, his success has been such a continuous performance that he has difficulty in getting his friends to "sit in" with him.

Thomas Fortune Ryan was his guest in Cuba some months ago, and one evening a game of poker was proposed. Now Ryan is from Virginia and can play some. He lost steadily all evening and finally threw down the cards in disgust.

"I say, Van Horne," said Mr. Ryan, "if you want to endow a few more hospital beds just tell me how much you a check than to hand it out in installments after every hand."

Sir William knows many card tricks, several of which are most wizard-like. General Young of the United States army happened along one

"JUST TELL ME HOW MUCH YOU WANT." afternoon in Havana when the railroad man was mystifying a group of friends by picking out of a full deck any card they picked and kept in their mind.

"You can't fool me with that trick," said the general.

"Select your card," said Van Horne, "and keep thinking about it."

General Young decided on the ten of diamonds, and with a smile watched Sir William shuffle the deck. He threw the cards on the table with a broad sweep, turning over but one card. It was the ten of diamonds.

"Sir William, you are the very devil," said the general as he stamped out of the room.—New York American.

Albert With a Moral.

Dr. Albert E. Palmer, who won the blue ribbon at the recent Chicago husband show, was talking to a reporter about marriage.

"Marriage will grow happier," said Dr. Palmer, "as men learn to regard it more unselfishly. Men are still too much like the savage. They still incline to consider their wives too much in the light of servants."

"Why, not long ago at the seashore do you know what I saw? I saw a little tableau that revealed to me in miniature the chief cause of unhappy marriages."

"A little boy and a little girl were digging in the white sand with toy spades and buckets. The little boy laid down his tools and said:

"'Clara, do you want to be my wife?'"

"'Yes,' said the little girl with a happy smile."

"The boy sat down on the sand and put up his feet toward her."

"'Then,' he said gruffly, 'take off my shoes and stockings.'"

The Literary Difference.

"H. G. Wells," said a Chicago publisher, "is a splendid novelist, but he attaches too much importance to the question of style, of finish, and not enough importance to the question of popularity."

"When Mr. Wells was over here I went about with him a good deal, and one day I showed him the magnificent mansion that one of our leading novelists owns."

"'Literature,' I said encouragingly, 'is different from what it was in Dr. Johnson's and Noll Goldsmith's time. You could live in just such a house as that if you'd write as we publishers want you to, Mr. Wells. You could be a famous novelist too. In fact, it is easy to be a famous novelist nowadays.'"

"Mr. Wells laughed sourly. 'Yes,' he said, 'in the past the authors died, but their works live. Now the works die and the authors live.'"

Trophies of the Chase.

Winthrop E. Stone, president of Purdue university, in an address in Lafayette said of ignorance:

"Ignorance makes all it touches ridiculous. Nothing, not even culture, is immune to its attacks. Did you ever hear of the ignorant millionaire's library?"

"Well, there was a millionaire, a cattleman, who led a visitor into a great room lined with thousands of volumes. 'See them books?' he said."

"'Yes,' said the visitor. 'They're all bound in calf, ain't they?'"

"'Yes,' the visitor agreed. 'They seem to have a uniform calf binding.' 'The millionaire chuckled proudly. 'Well, sir,' he said, 'I killed all them calves myself.'"

Test Your Baking Powder

No doubt you remember the baking powder test made in your kitchen by one of our demonstrators.

It's an eye-opener—and here it is! Take one teaspoonful of Egg Baking Powder and add five teaspoonfuls of water.

In another glass, place one teaspoonful of "any other kind" of baking powder and five teaspoonfuls of water.

Now watch closely! As the leavening gas forms in the glass containing the Egg Baking Powder, a foam like the beaten whites of eggs slowly rises until it fills the glass nearly to overflowing.

After twenty minutes the Egg Baking Powder will still be standing, lively and foaming! Yes, and so firm that it will not fall, no matter how much you jar it.

Now let's see what "the other kind" is doing.

MISS HIRSHBERG

Will Soon Leave For Germany to Study the Voice Under Eminent Instructors.

Yesterday at the Second Presbyterian church, Miss Elsie Hirshberg, who for two years has sung alto in the quartette choir there made her last appearance in public before going to Europe where she will give herself up to the study of the voice under eminent instructors.

Miss Hirshberg leaves Newark Thursday and on the 15th of October will sail for Berlin where she will begin her work. As yet her arrangements have not been completed, but correspondence has passed between her and a teacher there, who is recognized as probably the most thorough on the continent, and it is probable that Miss Hirshberg will be honored by a place in one of her exclusive classes.

Many in the Sunday morning congregation were surprised when Rev. T. A. Cosgrove announced that the popular contralto would not be with the choir, at least for a long period, and he voiced the feeling of regret that Miss Hirshberg was to leave so soon, but also the hope that she was about to begin a most successful career.

The young woman possesses every quality that goes to make the real artist. Her voice has strength and purity with a vibrant sympathy that can undoubtedly be molded into a perfect performance under the careful training it will receive.

With increased technique and the natural temperamental equipment that seems to be intuitive, coupled with a laudable ambition to excel in the field she has chosen, Miss Hirshberg has certainly a brilliant future in either concert, oratorio or opera.

He Will Do That.

"Yes," said the voluble crank. "I used to be as bad as you, but I made up my mind to quit smoking and drinking, and I did it."

"Indeed?" remarked Manley. "I guess a man who can quit smoking and drinking could quit almost anything."

"Oh, yes!"

"Except talking about it!"—Catholic Standard and Times.

Was It Fair?

He—So you persist in breaking off the engagement?

She—Most decidedly. What do you take me for?

He—Oh, about forty? Better think it over. It may be your last chance.—Sketch.

PROFESSIONALS FROM COLUMBUS TAKE A TUMBLE

AT THE HANDS OF NEWARK PLAYERS AT WEHRELE SUN-DAY AFTERNOON.

All Stars Use Three Twirlers Who Are Batted All Over the Park.

The last ball game of the season was won by the boys of the Newark team remaining in the city Sunday when they defeated a professional bunch from Columbus who have been giving exhibition games under the non de plume of All-Stars.

The All-Stars, who were anything but all stars yesterday, is composed of Hulswitt and Wrigley, who played with the Senators of Columbus the past season, Justus, with Hartford, Conn., Billy Purtell of Decatur, Mo., Allister, Drury and Wagner of Birmingham, N. Y., Mason of Quincy, Ill., and Pardee of Newark, N. J.

The Columbus aggregation used three pitchers and if they had of had any more they would undoubtedly have put them in also. Wagner, Pardee and Mason took their turns in the box and all were batted freely. Linke for the locals was very effective and let the visitors down with five hits, two of which were of the scratch variety. He also lammed out a double, a single and made a sacrifice out of three times up.

The Molders played Strong and Karch, two Newark youngsters, and they certainly made good and proved that they are comers. The former covered third like an old professional and accepted all chances without an error. He was credited with five assists and a put out. Karch made good behind the bat and will be found in fast company one of these days. Mark Purtell of Columbus, a brother of Billy's, covered the center field for the home boys.

The umpire was a red-headed individual by the cognomen of "Two Bits" Bierbrower. He was fairly good but made two decisions that were responsible for the four runs scored by the visitors from Columbus. In the first with two down and a man on second Purtell hit a ball which fell in foul territory by at least a foot and a half, but "Two Bits" called it safe and the base runner scored. Again in the seventh with the bases full and no outs, Mason hit to Linke and McAllister was thrown out at the plate. Karch immediately whipped the ball to Gygil to double on Mason and he was caught by a yard but "Two Bits" called him safe. Wagner immediately filed out and this would have retired the visitors without scoring, but Pardee came to bat and hit one out to Lefty who dropped it after making a long run for it and three scores resulted.

Owing to the cool weather and the fact that the Luther funeral was held the same afternoon the attendance was not what it would have been otherwise. Only about 500 were present and they managed to effect considerable fun out of the game by roasting "Two Bits" and the Columbus players, all of whom took it good naturedly and handed back an occasional hot one themselves. Out of the six old players who participated in yesterday's game only one will remain in the city after today, Sandy Murray.

Following was the line-up and score:

DETROIT FANS GO WILD

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 7.—The downtown streets took on an election night aspect Saturday night, as thousands of baseball fans, both men and women, cheered themselves hoarse in appreciation of the winning of the American league baseball championship by the Detroit club. Hundreds of the celebrators carried small pennants which they waved in the air, making them a conspicuous feature of every crowd.

Huge bonfires marked the constantly changing scene of the celebration. As fast as the people would rush to the point of the newest blaze, some one would turn in a fire alarm and the police and fire departments were kept busy until the early hours of morning. But the police and firemen never lost patience with the mob.

After a dozen unnecessary runs, the patrol wagon, hose carts and engine would still drive into the crowd, with officers and fire fighters all laughing in good humor with the crowd and no serious consequences of the fires were reported.

BASEBALL RESULTS TO BE BULLETINED

The results of the games between Chicago and Detroit for the world's championship, will be bulletined in the Advocate window as soon as each game is completed. The games in Chicago start at 2:30 p. m. and in Detroit Thursday, Friday and Saturday at 2 o'clock.

CUBS HAVE THE STRONGEST TEAM SAYS CHANCE

(By Frank L. Chance.)
Chicago, Oct. 7.—Naturally I expect to see the Cubs win. They are all in the best of condition and are ready for the fight of their lives. They realize that Detroit is a hard proposition. I know that the Tigers are strong, very strong, but I think that our team is stronger as a team. This is one of the main reasons why I think we will win the world's title. The left handed pitcher proposition is not worrying us any. We have defeated a lot of them this year. We will go into the fight for victory but are not overconfident. We have had the benefit of the experience of going through a world's series last year.

TIGERS CAN'T LOSE IS OPINION OF DETROIT MANAGER

(By Hugh A. Jennings.)
St. Louis, Oct. 7.—I really don't see how the Cubs will beat us. Every one of our players is strong in a base ball sense and uses judgment. They stick together and fight all the time. That's what won for us, and I count on that to pull the world's title for us. Our team is well balanced, and has nerve and grit, two essentials for a ball team to possess. It is true that our pitchers have been worked hard to win the pennant in the American league, but I believe that all of them will give a good account of themselves when they back up against the Cubs. I fear for Killian, who has a sore arm.

RACES WERE FINISHED IN GOOD TIME SATURDAY

FOUR EVENTS ON THE CARD WERE OVER BEFORE FOUR O'CLOCK.

Great Sport Enjoyed by a Large and Enthusiastic Crowd at the Fair Grounds.

The last day's races of the Licking County Fair proved a great drawing card Saturday and there was a splendid turnout. The four events on the program were started early and all was over before 4 o'clock. If the management only knew how this was appreciated by the public they would see to it that the same thing happens every year.

Another thing, the officials having charge of the races treated the members of the press most courteously, but the agricultural society should see to it that a press box is provided for the scribe who has "to do the races." The rules of the National Association are very strict and provide that no one but the racing officials shall occupy the judges' stand during the different races. The reporter is forced to do the best he can with a small hand pad and must stand or walk about the quarter stretch until the race is finished and then secure it from the clerk of the races. The papers are always liberal in giving space to the association and it should be up to the times with other tracks and take care of the newspaper boys by providing a place for them where they may be able to write the races as they occur. We hope to see a press box installed by next year.

Starter James Walker of Coldwater, Mich., was again in charge Saturday, and got the horses off in the different races in good order. True, he didn't satisfy everybody, but did you ever hear of a starting judge that did? The result judges were Bart Jones of Granville, Ray Boggs and A. V. Groves of this city. The time judges were F. L. Edmund, of Thornville, C. W. Miller and William Webb of this city.

The first event of the afternoon was the third heat of the 2:13 pace, postponed from Saturday, and it was easily captured by Kate Dixon, of Detroit, at Detroit.

The General and Vance made the little chestnut mare step some. This trot proved one of the prettiest of the afternoon's sport, but the talent had it touted correctly and there was nothing to it but Novina. They finished in this order:

2:20 trot, purse $300:
Novina C., Howard Miller,
Mansfield1 1 1
The General, B. M. Critchfield
Mr. Vernon2 3 2
Vance, N. E. Van Atta,
Newark3 2 2
Milton Strong, A. T. Ault
Columbus4 4 4
Time 2:25 1-4; 2:25 3-4; 2:24 1-2

Four horses responded for the call for the 2:25 pace and it looked as if each would be in for the money for it is divided four ways, but Mark Jr. was distanced in the third heat and as a consequence lost fourth money. It was all Fannie Strathmore and she won in three straight heats. The finish:

Acy, M. T. Lee Mt Vernon1 2 2

Lancaster2 3 3
Mark Jr., C. L. Deholt,

Time 2:23; 2:25 1-4; 2:27.

There were only two starters in the running race for a purse of $125 Glenelville, owned by Geo. Reed of Glenelville, and Always Faithful, J. C. Brossman, Columbus. The former won in straight heats. Time 52 and 51 1-2.

DENISON IS EASY VICTOR

Granville, O., Oct. 7.—Denison defeated Heidelberg here Saturday in the first home game of the season. The score was: Denison 15, Heidelberg 6. Heidelberg scored her touchdown by making a punt in the first ten minutes of play. Ginehar caught it one the return and had a clean field with only 20 yards to run. Denison was taken by surprise, but from that on the game was marked by return punts on both sides. Walker received a broken nose. Davies, the Denison quarterback, showed remarkable playing ability. Denison lost ground heavily by penalties for offside playing. The Denison goal was never in danger except the time it was crossed, and the game closed with the ball on Heidelberg's 50 yard line in Denison's possession. The line-up:

Vital Importance of the Convention at Memphis Toward the Relief of Congested Traffic—Features of the Various Projects Under Consideration—Nature of the Scene of the President's Hunt.

By ROBERTUS LOVE.

HISTORY repeats itself, though not always in the same tone of voice. In the city of Memphis, Tenn., in the year 1845, was held a convention having for its object the improvement of our inland waterways. Incidentally it may be mentioned that John C. Calhoun was chairman of that gathering. Now, in this year of our Lord 1907, in the same city of Memphis, has just been held a convention having practically the identical object in view. Theodore Roosevelt, who, like Calhoun, has been vice president of the United States, but, unlike the South Carolinian, has achieved his ambition to go up higher, was the most conspicuous personage at the second Memphis waterways congress.

The sixty-three years elapsing between these two conventions have wrought vast changes. Memphis in 1845 was a small town on what was then the frontier of Uncle Sam's developed domain. Now it is a thriving city almost in the center of the United States as to population and development. The republic has grown as Memphis has grown. The analogy holds good through all lines of growth—territorial, industrial, agricultural and otherwise.

Steamboating in Its Prime.

In 1845 there was an urgent demand for improved waterways in the vast Mississippi valley. At that period railroading was in its swaddling clothes.

Steamboating was in its vigorous prime. The toot of the stern wheeler's whistle resounded along the shores of a score of streams tributary to the Mississippi, the father of them all. Practically all long distance traffic in the interior was carried on by water. None save the boldest dreamed that the day would come when the shriek of the land going locomotive would make the steamer's toot sound like the wall of a lost soul.

That day came, and the rivers went out of business. What a facious person said concerning the Missouri river a dozen years ago, when the government finally abandoned all further improvement of its channel, was applicable to all the Mississippi valley streams:

"The Missouri has been hung up on the fence to dry."

To be sure, there was more or less river traffic remaining, but increasingly less from year to year. The railroads had the call. Two streaks of steel running here and there and yonder across country at the will of the builders had put the silver ribbons of water out of the reckoning.

Great Developer.

But it so happened that the excessive enterprise of the railroads has created a new and still more urgent demand for the steamboats. The railroad is the great developer. It has built states and populated them with workers, and the workers have produced such vast wealth from the soil of the Mississippi valley, stretching from West Virginia and Pennsylvania on the east to Colorado on the west, that the railroads are utterly inadequate to the situation. The railroads cannot haul the traffic which they have created; hence it follows that the thoughts of men are turning again to the natural arteries of commerce, the once loved but latterly despised rivers, as an outlet for the surplus. This is the situation which called into being the deep waterways convention at Memphis, with its 3,000 delegates, its score or more of state governors and its presidential personage in attendance.

History has repeated itself and uttered its repetition in an edition de luxe.

Perhaps no gathering of earnest men ever was held in the United States which discussed matters of more vital importance than this convention at Memphis the first week in October. What the convention actually did is not so important as will be the results which will flow from the discussions and resolutions of the body. Inevitably bound up in the matter is the ticklish problem of railroad rate regulation.

We have tried to regulate railroad rates by statute law. The proposed deepening of the river channel is a step toward rate regulation by natural law. For many years the railroads have enjoyed a practical monopoly of the interior traffic. Railroads belong to individuals or combinations of individuals. Rivers belong to the people in common. There can be no private snap river trust. The experience of the past has proved that steamboats can transport goods at a freight rate much lower than the railroads exact. By deepening the river channels so that vessels of adequate size may navigate the natural arteries of inland commerce the people of the United States will introduce competition where monopoly now rules. That is the sweetest kernel of the exceedingly large and luscious nut

When the Chester Stuck.

Just to illustrate the fact that the Missouri needs heroic surgical treatment if it is to come in line with inland waterways progress the trip of the steamer Chester only a fortnight before the Memphis convention may be cited. With Captain William R. Massie, a veteran Missouri river pilot, at the wheel, the Chester undertook a round trip from St. Louis to Kansas City, carrying produce and passengers each way. The distance between the cities is about 300 miles. On Sept. 23, seventeen days later, the Chester got stuck on a bar near Hermann, Mo., not far from the home plate, and her passengers finally concluded that to get home in time for Thanksgiving turkey they must go ashore in a launch, which they did. The Chester draws three feet six inches when light. She was heavily cargoed with wheat. At the point where she finally hung up the channel was only three feet seven inches. Enough said!

The Ohio, of course, will come in for some of the improvements, though it must be said for the Ohio that she has been able to keep her head above mud in a manner highly creditable to her and correspondingly chagrining to her western sister, the Missouri.

Deeper Channels Needed.

Then there is the Arkansas. The state of Kansas has been suing the state of Colorado for stealing the Arkansas river for irrigation purposes. What is left of the Arkansas flows through Indian Territory and Arkansas to the Mississippi. It is still navigable in spots for goggle eyed perch and flat bottomed boats. The Arkansas should carry sizable craft clear up to Muskogee, I. T., and no doubt the new state of Oklahoma would have put in its constitution a demand for a deeper channel but for "lack of space."

Relief of Congested Traffic.

But even more important in its immediate uses is the relief of congested traffic which the improvement of the river promises. An authority no less than James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern railroad and chief developer of the northwest, has estimated that $5,000,000,000 will be required to improve and develop the railroad systems of the country to the point now demanded for handling the transportation business as it should be handled. The waterways experts contend that by the expenditure of something like $300,000,000 the rivers can be put into condition for relieving the situation. This includes, of course, a canal here and there to connect natural waterways, in addition to the deepening of river channels.

We are spending approximately that amount on the construction of the Panama canal. With that project completed, the need of navigable river channels in the United States will be vastly greater. Deep inland waterways, therefore, seem to be an inevitable aftermath of the Panama canal.

The Lake to the Gulf Deep Waterways Association, chiefly fostered by St. Louis business men, has for its slogan the cry, "Fourteen feet through the valley!" This means that congress is to be asked to unite Chicago and consequently all the ports on the great lakes with the gulf of Mexico by dredging a fourteen foot channel from Chicago to the gulf. The Chicago drainage canal, the Illinois river and the Mississippi constitute the course. With a channel of this depth big ocean freighters may money up to Chicago and thence along the lakes to put off at Buffalo their cargoes, or vice versa, while the big vessels on the lakes, now laid up on account of ice during several months of each year, may money

Bear Hunt in the Canabrakes.

At the close of the inland waterways convention President Roosevelt left for northeast Louisiana to participate in a bear hunt in the canabrakes. His hosts on the trip will be John A. McHenry, former rough rider and a member of the national civil service commission, and John M. Parker, owner of a large cotton plantation, who accompanied the president on his bear hunt in Mississippi four years ago. Two camps have been pitched for the president's party. The first is at the junction of the Tensas river and the Monticello road, in East Carroll parish. This camp will be about five miles from Abita station, where the temporary "White House" will be established for the president's secretaries, telegraphers and newspaper correspondents. The second camp is at the junction of the Monticello road and Joe's bayou. A temporary bridge has been built across the Tensas river down the Mississippi and do a salt water business in winter time. In the event of the building of the proposed ship canal to connect the Hudson river with the great lakes, vessels of heavy draft then may voyage from New York to New Orleans by way of Buffalo, Cleveland, Chicago, St. Louis, Memphis and Paducah, Miss., and continue on by the salt water route between the tail end of Florida and the north coast of Cuba back past Sandy Hook to New York or, for that matter, to any port of the seven seas.

Very Alluring Project.

This is a stupendous proposition and a highly alluring one, but it follows logically on the heels of the Memphis discussions. It may be added that there is also a well defined plan for the cutting of a ship canal through the Florida peninsula to obviate the necessity of cruising among the perilous reefs of the Florida keys and to shorten considerably the distance from the gulf ports to Atlantic coast points.

While these immense projects are under consideration there are several smaller though highly important ones pressing for recognition. These relate to the tributary streams of the Mississippi. The Missouri, of course, comes first—the river that Uncle Sam wrung out some years ago and hung on the fence to dry. The Missouri simply refuses to stay dead. It always was a lively stream, moving about latitudinally as well as flowing seaward longitudinally. There is a tradition to the effect that a farm-house along the Missouri is on one side or the other according to the direction in which a freshet moves the channel of the stream.

Nevertheless for nearly a century the Missouri was the artery of a glorious and romantic commerce between St. Louis and the far northwest. Still living in St. Louis are a few of the veteran steamboat captains and pilots who ran on the Missouri far up into the Dakota country when steamboating was in its palmy period and the government snag boats and dredgers worked assiduously to give a passable channel to the sturdy stern wheelers.

ONLY A JAPANESE INVITED.

Attache of No Other Power to Attend British Naval Maneuvers.

Under the supreme command of Lord Charles Beresford the combined home, Atlantic and channel fleets will leave Portland, England, about Oct. 14 for the autumn maneuvers, which are this year to be in the North sea and to be somewhat similar to those in the spring off the coast of Portugal, says a London cable dispatch to the New York Times.

The greatest interest is being taken in this bringing together of England's first line of defense under the man whom many consider the greatest of her admirals, for, while the usual fleet maneuvers and exercises will be carried out, the main object is believed to be strategic—to teach the officers what the admiralty would expect of them in case of war with Germany.

SELF LIGHTING LIFE BUOY.

Novelty on the Steamer Lusitania That Attracted Attention.

One feature of the big Lusitania, the Cunard turbine ocean liner, which attracted crowds when she was open for inspection, was the automatic life buoy which is fastened between decks on a slanting frame in such a way that it can be released by the pressure of a button on the bridge, says the New York Sun.

On each end of the four arms of a large cross shaped framework is a copper ball. These balls are so weighted that when the buoy strikes the water it will float upright. To the cross-arms are fastened long brass cylinders. These cylinders are calcium carbide lights so arranged that they flare up by contact with the water.

Should a cry of "Man overboard!" be raised at night the officer on the bridge presses the button, the buoy hits the water, and the lights flare up. If the man overboard is a swimmer he can reach the buoy, to the arms of which lights are attached to aid in keeping above water. The ship also has a mark to guide it.

The American Bankers' association while in session at Atlantic City, N. The idea is that a bank teller's desk can be more readily handled by reason of the ease with which bills can be piled up according to their color. The colors decided on for the different denominations are: State, $1; brown, $2; green, $5; blue, $10; yellow, $20; pink, $50; white, $100 and over.

The programme is being kept a strict secret, and it is announced that on this occasion journalists will not be invited to accompany the ships. Neither have the naval attaches received any information, and none will be present except the Japanese attache, who as the representative of England's ally has in recent years been the guest of the officer in command on occasions of this kind.

Lord Charles Beresford will be accompanied by no less than nine admirals, and the big ships of his fleet will include twenty-five battleships, fourteen armored cruisers and ten protected cruisers. There will be a fleet of smaller vessels, including torpedo boat destroyers, numbering over sixty.

Well, every man's opinion ought to carry weight and every man's wishes should be respected—just in proportion to what they are worth. The term "taxpayer" should scare no one—for one man in this country is as much a taxpayer as another. It is true that the courts take notice of the taxpayer to the extent that they term a taxpayer a person who pays taxes up. Property assessed for taxation, but, wise as they are, the courts do not say some very foolish things. Jus how any man can live under our present system of government without being a taxpayer, whether he owns property or not, is hard to understand.

If he eats or wears clothes or boards at a hotel or boarding-house; if he lives in a rented home or one that belongs to him; if he rides upon the street cars or steam cars or goes to the theater—he is a taxpayer. Some of the people who exhibit big tax receipts and claim that they ought to be heard because they pay taxes upon a dozen pieces of property, do not pay taxes upon any of the property—assuredly they do not if the property is rented. Every lawyer or dentist occupying space in one of the big buildings in this city is paying taxes upon the building—just in proportion to the amount of space he occupies. The owners of the skyscrapers are not philanthropists. They are not paying the taxes of the tenants—not by any means. The people who own the street railways, or the places of amusement, or the factories, are not paying other people's taxes. It costs five cents to ride upon the cars, because a part of that five cents goes to pay taxes. It costs a certain amount to attend an amusement, because it takes a part of that certain amount to pay the taxes. A plow costs nine dollars, because the manufacturer has to have a portion of the nine dollars with which to pay taxes; he could sell the plow for eight dollars and ninety cents if he had no taxes to pay—so the farmer pays ten cents of the manufacturer's taxes when he buys a plow.

A suit of clothes costs more because the merchant has to pay taxes, and the boarding-houses have to charge in proportion to the rent they pay and they have to pay rent in proportion to the amount of taxes the landlord has to pay. Always you will find a property owner figuring upon a certain investment "after the taxes are paid."

THE ARIZONA PUBLIC ACCOUNTING LAW AMENDED.

In Arizona provision was made for a public examiner in 1905, and at the last session of the legislature in 1907 this law was amended and defects brought out by the operation of the law, corrected. Under the law of 1905 it was made the duty of the public examiner to enforce a uniform system of bookkeeping so far as practicable, but nothing was said about the public officers conforming to the system prescribed by the public examiner. The amendment adopted in 1907 corrected this oversight and thus strengthened the law.

The law passed in 1905 provided that the governor could suspend any officer when he thought the public interest demanded it. When the governor suspends an officer under the new law as amended, it becomes his duty to send notice to that effect to the authorities charged with the duty of filling the office. As soon as an officer is removed, the public examiner takes charge of the office either in person or else appoints some competent person to do the work for him in his name. The salary and continuing fund were both raised and provision made for the appointment of a clerk as an assistant.

With these and other minor modifications and corrections, Arizona now has a law that is a credit to the territory and a law that might serve as a model for some of our states.

HIGH SCHOOL FOOT BALL

Plucky Playing of the Newark Boys Held the Heavy Mt. Vernon Team to a 0 to 0 Score.

Accompanied by a good crowd of high school boys and girls with other football enthusiasts, the High School football team went to Mt. Vernon, Saturday, where they played the High school team. Neither side was able to score. The local team was composed of Ramsey, captain T. Lewis, Black, Gleichauf, Ashley and Collins of last year's team, Warner, Cooper, Martin and Perry, new men, and Jackson, who last year was with the Cleveland High school team.

The home team averaged 145 pounds against an average of 167 for Mt. Vernon. With a handicap of over 20 pounds to the man, with Lewis at quarter for the first time, with four new men and their first game against Mt. Vernon's third, Newark entered the game to win. Although the score shows a tie it was easily a victory for Newark as Mt. Vernon was out played at every stage of the game. Only twice was Mt. Vernon able to cross the center line. Once at the kick-off and once on a punt. Newark attempted two drop kicks, one missed and the other was blocked. Also a place kick which missed the goal. Several of Mt. Vernon's punts were blocked, and even with their weight found the Newark line a stone wall. Black and Ashley made valuable gains through the line, and Lewis and Jackson around the end. Cooper and Warner surprised their team mates and the spectators with their fast playing. There was no fumbling by Newark and every man was in his place for every play. The staying to the last minute characterized Newark's playing. We expect to play Mt. Vernon here, and lovers of football will be given an interesting game.

SERIOUS CHARGE PREFERRED BY LITTLE GIRLS

AFFIDAVIT CHARGES TWO MEN WITH BRUTAL CRIMINAL ASSAULT ON THEM.

One Out on Bail, Other Unable to Give Bond—Red Light District
Raided—Police News.

George Kantras and William Miller, two young fellows, are in a nice bunch of trouble according to affidavits filed before W. B. Patterson, a notary public, last Saturday. It is charged that they enticed Julia Stangel, 15 years old, and Florence Swick, 17 years old, to a secluded spot in Idlewild park and criminally assaulted them. The girls were bruised and their clothing badly torn in the struggle that followed. Kantras is out on $500 bail, but Monday morning Miller had not been able to raise the necessary. Smythe & Smythe will look out for their interests. Their hearing will be held on Wednesday.

Saturday night one E. Cooper who was in a bad frame of mind, visited Mable Hamilton, down in the red light district and got rough. As a result Officers Wolfe and Driscoll were called and Cooper was locked up. During his visit he kicked in a door and was anything but a welcome visitor. Captain Bell decided that conditions were bad, so loading the patrol wagon with Officers McClure, Driscoll, Greely, Wolfe and Wagonman Brown, he made a flying trip down to Walnut street and gathered in Mabel Hamilton, the landlady, Ida Brown, 27, an inmate, and J. Jones and Alva Lingman, two visitors. When the fines were handed out Monday by the mayor, Mabel drew $50 and costs. Ida got off easy with $5 and costs, while Jones and Lingman are out on bail.

The police drag net was thrown out again Sunday night, and at about 11:30 Captain Bell and his flying squadron made another trip and another haul in the red light district was made. This time John Smith and Frank Davis, visitors, and Nellie Brook, the landlady, Lizzie Rodgers, 23, Mary Fletcher, 19, and Florence Davis, 21, were the victims. Smith and Davis drew five and costs, Mary caught five and costs, Florence and Lizzie each got ten and costs for theirs, while Nellie drew the big fifty and costs.

Steve Bogardis, charged with assaulting and abusing his own countrywomen, was fined $5 and costs. When Officer Abbott arrested two young men early on last Sunday morning at 12:45, he had his hands full. The young men are charged with fighting, as out of a bunch of half a dozen they were the only ones that had their coats off. They were taken in. But like a couple of young antelopes, they possessed sprinting powers, and as first one would start to run and then the other, Officer Abbott had troubles of his own until he had them safely in the patrol with Wagonman Brown watching over them. They pleaded not guilty and their case was continued.

Charles Spence was arrested Saturday night at 8:15 for having more of a load than he could navigate with. He took five and costs. Pet and Fannie, the two faithful horses that haul the patrol, had a busy time of it Saturday and Sunday nights, and when police court was fairly started Monday they were kept busy traveling to and from the city prison, bringing the results of the officers' work into court.

President in Camp.
Stamboul, La., Oct. 7.—The president spent Sunday quietly in his camp on Tensas bayou, with the intention of beginning his hunt Monday. Secretary Latta, who is located about ten miles from the camp, reported to the press representatives here that he has not received a word from his chief since he landed in camp. There is quite a canvas village where the camp is pitched. It consists of seven tents, most of which are occupied as living apartments by the president and his party. The president's own tent is a walled structure about 15 feet square and there is a large mess tent and also a cooking tent floored.

Memphis Tenn., Oct. 7.—Thomas J. Dupree was instantly killed today in a collision with a street car while mounted on a motor cycle. Dupree was speeding at a terrific clip, when, finding himself face to face with a collision with Mrs. Thomas J. Rawson, who had her small baby in her arms, he steered his machine into the car and received internal injuries. He left a large estate.

MUTILATED BODY FOUND IN A

Husband in Florida Killed His Wife

Killing.

Camden, N. J., Oct. 7.—The murder of nine-year-old Ethel Nevins, or Marx, of East Camden, whose mutilated body was found in a thicket not far from her home, is a complete mystery, though the police arrested August Denegas of Philadelphia in connection with the case. He was held for examination, together with Joseph Wood, 16 years of age. Wood was arrested primarily because Mrs. Harry Marx, mother of the murdered girl, was wont to leave him in charge of her children while she was on shopping tours, and Ethel had said she was afraid of him. Wood denies knowledge of the crime. Since his arrest the police say they have found a witness who saw him on Thursday in the brush near where the body was found, armed with a hatchet.

Killed Wife and Self.
Key West, Fla., Oct. 7.—Austin Griffin shot and killed his wife at the breakfast table, then committed suicide by drinking carbolic acid. Mrs. Griffin had separated from her husband, but he refused to leave the house, demanding half of the property. When the husband demanded an understanding she refused to converse with him. He drew his revolver and shot her in the back of the head, causing instant death. He survived her only an hour.

Jeweler Killed.
Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 7.—Thomas J. Dupree, a member of the firm of Broadnax & Co., local jewelers, and one of the most prominent business men of this city, while riding a motor cycle collided with a street car here, sustaining injuries which later resulted in his death.

JONES SHOT BUT THE MEN ESCAPE

Mt. Vernon, Oct. 7.—Just at midnight Deputy Sheriff Lewis received a message to hurry to the Children's Home, west of the city, where a man had been shot. The officer made a rapid drive to the home and while he found no dead man he found evidence which showed that someone came very near being riddled with shot from a shot gun in the hands of Clyde Jones, a young man employed at the home.

It appears that for almost two weeks past two men have been prowling about the home. They have appeared at the house and have pounded on the doors and tapped on the windows. One of the men is described as being rather tall and the other quite short in stature.

Deputy Sheriff Lewis telephoned to Mt. Vernon at once, notifying the police to call at the various physicians' offices and see if any one was brought there to have shot extracted from their bodies. Shortly before Officer Butcher received the word from Deputy Sheriff Lewis, he saw two men walking very fast down Main street. One was tall and the other was quite short. One of the men had his hand bandaged up. It is believed they made good their escape.

REPORTS SHOW TWO CENT FARE BENEFIT TO ALL

NET INCREASE OF OHIO RAIL-ROADS UNDER ITS OPERA-TION $1,000,000.

Board Changes Its Award—Ohio
Printers in Conference—News of Buckeye State.

Columbus, O., Oct. 7.—Two-cent passenger fares in Ohio are an unequalled success, both for the public and the railroads. This is conclusively proved by reports made to the Ohio railroad commission by the roads themselves in the first comprehensive detail of the general operation of a two-cent fare anywhere in the United States. The Ohio law, which was the pioneer, became effective March 10, 1906. The figures show that under the operation of the present rate railroads made a net gain in Ohio passenger receipts of $1,332,282.46 in 1907 over 1906, when the first three months under the two-cent fare law were included in the report, which in each case is for the report ending June 30.

Home-Coming Song.
Columbus, O., Oct. 7.—Interest has been aroused by the action of the state board of agriculture in making a new award of the prize offered for the Ohio home-coming song. Professor D. E. Rudolph of the Zanesville schools was declared the winner in August. Now it is announced that Mrs. Kate D. Gordon, a teacher in Central high school here, would be given the prize of $50 in gold. The change was made, it was stated, because Professor Rudolph had submitted original music only. The words to his song were not his own. Mrs. Gordon was one of the few taking part in the contest who submitted both original music and words.

Typographical Conference.
Columbus, O., Oct. 7.—The Ohio Typographical conference met here and decided to hold meetings every six months. The next one will be held at Zanesville. The following officers were elected: President, John B. Reynolds, Youngstown; vice president, John Walker, Dayton; secretary-treasurer, Roy W. Hocking, Zanesville. President Lynch was to have addressed the conference, but was unable to attend, and Max Hayes of Cleveland, an organizer of the union, spoke for him. Reports were made by delegates from the various cities of conditions existing there.

Prisoners Break Through Wall.
Cincinnati, O., Oct. 7.—Three prisoners escaped from the county jail here. They dug their way through an inner wall with pieces of iron broken from their beds. By breaking through this wall they reached a stairway leading to the roof, from which they dropped to freedom. Those who escaped are: Herman Fennen, under charge of grand larceny; Arthur Lamond, found guilty and sentenced by the United States court for counterfeiting; Frank Brooks, charged with burglary. Brooks has been captured, but the others are still at liberty.

Poisonous to Cattle.
Bellefontaine, O., Oct. 7.—Farmers in this county have been advised by the agricultural experiment station at Wooster that second growth sorghum cane is poisonous to cattle. OHIO TEACHERS WILL NOT MEET

Columbus, O., Oct. 7.—It was decided to dispense with the annual meeting of the Ohio Teachers' association at a meeting of the executive committee of the association at the Southern Hotel. This action was taken for the reason that the National Educational association will hold its next meeting at Cleveland in July. The teachers of the state will turn their attention to making the Cleveland meeting a success. Superintendent J. D. Simkins of Newark, as chairman of the committee, called the meeting to order.

RESTORE THE CANTEN

Since the abolition of the canteen, cases of chronic alcoholism in the United States army have notably increased. During the last fiscal year 31 in every 1000 had to be treated for sickness due to drink. Surgeon General O'Reilly in his annual report says:

"This office concurs in the opinion expressed by most medical officers of the army, that the abolition of the sale of beer in post exchanges has much to do with the increase of certain infectious disease and alcoholism in the army, by driving the soldiers to disreputable resorts outside of the post and beyond the control of the post authorities."

In the interests of temperance, morality and efficiency in the army, Congress at its coming session should restore the canteen.—Catholic Columbian.

Next meeting of the Lakes-to-the-Gulf Waterways association will be held in Chicago in 1908.

A cannon report has been heard as far as 146 miles.

JUDGE COLLAPSED PRISONER LAUGHED

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 7.—As he sentenced Norris B. Holmes to death in the criminal branch of the Supreme court Judge Joseph M. Swearingen collapsed.

It was the first time that Judge Swearingen, who was but recently appointed, was called upon to impose the death sentence. While the sentence was being delivered, Holmes, the prisoner, smiled contemptuously at the judge and when the latter collapsed he broke forth into a loud laugh.

Holmes was found guilty of murdering Mary Miller at East Pittsburg on March 27.
